WASHINGTON, July 11.—(Special)—An early decision may be expected by the Secretary of Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture on the question of the Los Angeles county flood control district for right of way for a flood control dam in San Gabriel and for a construction maintained up the bed of the canyons to the damsite.

Some of the applications was made following the hearing in Washington on June 14, last, because some asked sixty days for the study of the project. Work gave him a thirty days, and that time expired on Wednesday, next. The President has not yet decided. The brief has not been filed. The department, nor has application for extension of time.

Coolidges Settle for Summer in Their Camp in the Adirondacks

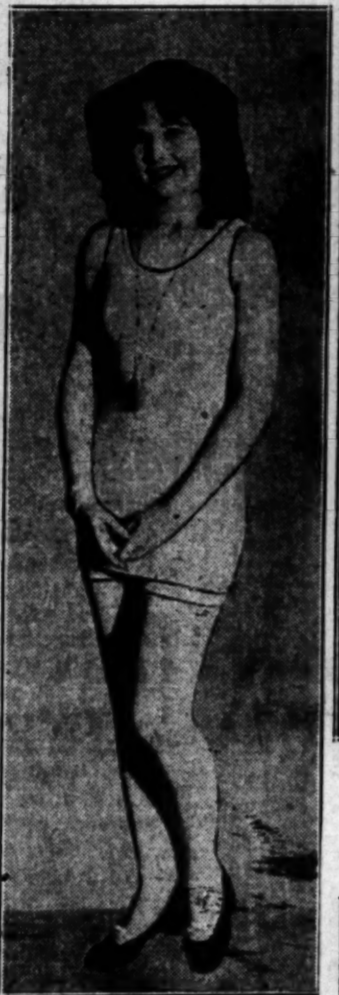

Settled for the Summer Vacation, the President and Mrs. Coolidge are enjoying themselves at White Pine Camp on Osgood Lake, N. Y., in the Adirondack Mountains. Photo shows the nation's Chief Executive and Mrs. Coolidge as they appeared upon their arrival at the summer camp a few days ago. The President is chaperoning Rob Roy, and Mrs. Coolidge has Prudence Prim on leash. In the meantime, the White House is getting a new coat of paint and undergoing repairs, as shown in photo at right. (P. & A. Photos.)

The Brightest Star in England's constellation of motion picture beauties is Miss Joan Stockton (above,) according to the general consensus of British editors. She is declared by many to be more beautiful than Lady Diana Manners, now Lady Duff-Cooper. (Herbert Photos, Inc.)

When the Elbe River Starts Rampaging there's plenty of trouble in Germany. Photo shows the main street of one of the towns along the river during flood time. Despite the fact that they are forced to use boats to get about the burghers appear to be perfectly happy. The scene is a typical early summer one. (Herbert Photos, Inc.)

A New Beach Novelty, the cork-stuffed canvas doll which serves as either a float or a beach mascot, has been introduced at Santa Monica by Miss Lucille Borgman, pictured above. The buoyancy of the doll is such that it will support a 200-pound person. Notice the bizarre features. (Times Photo.)

Two Little Irish Heroines are the O'Lee sisters, Maureen (left) and Sheila, shown above with their mother as they appeared upon arrival in the United States last week. They were arrested five years ago for delivering a message from De Valera to Michael Collins. (P. & A. Photo.)

A Survey of the Situation—1861.

THE SUMMER OF 1861 FOUND THE UNITED STATES A DIVIDED NATION. OF THE THIRTY-FOUR STATES THEN FORMING THE UNION ELEVEN HAD SECEDED AND ORGANIZED AN INDEPENDENT CONFEDERACY. FOUR WERE DIVIDED IN THEIR ALLEGIANCE, AND NINETEEN REMAINED FIRMLY WITH THE UNION.

THE CENSUS OF 1860 HAD SHOWN THE POPULATION WAS MORE THAN 31,000,000, MOST OF WHOM WERE LIVING IN THE FREE STATES. THE NORTH HAD THEREFORE THE GREATER MILITARY STRENGTH AND THIS WAS INCREASED DURING THE COURSE OF THE WAR BY THE COMING OF MORE THAN 600,000 IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE.

WHILE THE FEDERAL FORCES WERE MORE NUMEROUS THAN THEIR CONFEDERATE OPPONENTS, MANY NORTHERN SOLDIERS WERE PERFORMING DUTIES BEHIND THE FRONT LINES WHICH IN THE CONFEDERATE ARMY WERE DONE BY SLAVES.

These daily history strips make a unique pictorial history of America. Hundreds are clipping them daily and pasting them in scrapbooks.

Pacific Southwest REVIEW

BECAUSE banks deal in money and credit, one of the most popular fallacies is that the banker has some sort of control over their supply and is therefore in a position to enjoy remarkable profits.

In a recent article in the Journal of the American Bankers Association, Reuben A. Lewis, writing of the "big money makers of America," set forth the contrary to the general belief that the largest financial institutions of the country are not making money. Lewis, do not rank the manufacture of steel, the marketing of gasoline and providing a means of ready communication as a lucrative business service. Not more than the earnings of a well-known manufacturer of safety razors.

So far the telephone, which turned its fiftieth anniversary recently, is in the lead of those published their net yields. During the past year the "Farmer American Telephone and Telegraph Company recorded net earnings of more than $107,000,000."

It only slightly outdistanced General Motors, with its $106,000,000.

The Ford Motor Company is calculated to have made from $100,000,000 to $115,000,000 during 1925. It added $79,890,396 to its surplus and reserve of good will of $20,179,885. Dividends which may be expected to run at least as high as 1924—nearly $15,000,000—should be added to that.

The United States Steel Corporation will not be far behind with $90,000,000. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey made $80,000,000 in 1924, and it is estimated it may go beyond the hundred million mark this year. At any event it is expected to be among the five leading money makers of the country.

The five combined made more money last year than all of the Federal mints coined.

If you are one who is inclined to resent the ability of these companies to make such money, pause for a moment and consider the service they perform for mankind . . . and the backwardness of modern life would take without their contributions to it.

What would business and social intercourse be today if it were not for the millions upon millions of dollars had been spent in the offices and homes and in the nation together with telephone and telegraph lines? What would modern life be without the automobile?

Big profit makers are these companies, to be sure, but they are also indispensable servants of mankind who have contributed immeasurably to the fuller life of every individual in the nation.

In the meantime, the banks along, serving the big corporations and the small individual as well . . . not regulating credit, but merely allocating it. Banks are simply warehouses of credit, in which a vast number of people store their surplus money and from which supply the banker is enabled to loan out in due proportion to assist the legitimate enterprises of the community.

Banking is reciprocal. The banker can loan only as much as the people of the community demand of him. By judicious allocation he can keep the money in circulation over a maximum period of time and to a maximum degree of service, but he is always confronted by the inevitable limitations of his deposits.

That is why, when you seek credit, the business you have done with the banking institution over a period of time is your chief claim to attention and consideration. Banking is reciprocal.

IOWA UNREST LAID ON EAST

Antagonism to Farm Industry
Aid Basic Factor

Agriculture Gains Grow But Farmer Handicapped

Dull Market for Land Adds to Predicament

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS
COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa) July
11. (Exclusive)—While other States and the political world in particular are echoing with "What's wrong in Iowa?" many optimistic folks out here in the corn and bacon belt are raising the interrogation, "What's right with Iowa?" They furnish the answer themselves, and it is to the effect that evidences are abundant "that agriculture is growing in prosperity." But, they point out, there is a deep-rooted trouble with the farmer in that he buys in a seller's market and sells in a buyer's market and is eternally facing the greatest gamble in the world, namely, a fluctuation in the price of his products that sometimes ranges 200 percent and higher in a twelve-month period.
Right there is one great reason for the agrarian unrest. The farmer is intensifying his job as producer.
Agriculture has been climbing to a higher basis as a business enterprise.
The farmer has been taking the surface fluctuations, good crops and prices one year and indifference the next, without much kicking, but the decrease in the value of high land, his capacity, has caused a deep sore-ness of spirit. The basic factor in the corn belt revolt is that the industrialized East is antagonistic to the idea that the farm industry needs to be put on a parity with flour and mill industries.

IOWA'S FARM INCOME

Tentative figures just out indicate Iowa's total farm gross income in 1925 was between $700,000,000 and $712,000,000. It was somewhat larger than in 1924, which was the best year since the 1920 slump. The decrease in the price for corn which brought gloom last fall and winter has measurably been made up by the high price for hogs and the good prices for cattle. In 1925, some $2,000,000 more hogs were marketed than in 1924, but they brought in $5,000,000 more dollars.

One fact pointed to is that in December, 1925, at the peak Iowa banks owed the Federal Reserve Bank $68, 636,000. On May 26, this year, this had been cut to $4,518,000.

In April, 1925, the borrowings from the War Finance Corporation were $24,000,000. Now they are less than $11,000,000.

Only about 8 per cent of Iowa farms are mortgaged and some 40 per cent of the $12,000 farms in the State are not mortgaged. In the smaller communities the traveler hears from farmers that those who own their farms without excessive incumbrance and who did not plunge into high-priced acres during the 1919 land boom are prosperous, unless they grew corn last year and had to keep or cattle to manufacture 60-cent corn into $1.35 corn in the shape of meat.

EFFECT OF DEFLATION

In the inflation period less than 10 per cent of Iowa farms were under contract of sale or changed ownership. In some sections land went up to $400 and $600 an acre.
Deflation knocked these values almost in half.

Government figures show that in 1920, the average value of land and buildings on farms was $227 an acre; in 1925, it was $140. The average value of land in 1920 was $109. Now it is $119.

The main trouble is the dull market for land. Forced sales when banks had to throw out frozen assets have generally brought such a low price that it has been dispiriting to landowners in adjacent townships or counties. The land is as good as dead, but there is little movement, and the owner of a farm doesn't know with any exactness what he is worth.

Oakland Man Fast Recovers After Rescue

OAKLAND, July 11. (AP)—Although suffering no serious consequences after being lost for four days in the rugged mountains northwest of here, Albert S. Levenson, wealthy Oakland merchant, was regaining his strength in a private hospital here today and plans to return to his home in a few days. His family joined him this morning.
In recounting his experience during the time that passed were searching the hills for him, Levenson said that lack of water was the most severe deprivation suffered, on account of the intense heat.

Surgeons Strive to Save Eyes of Capt. Dowling

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP)—Capt.
W. G. Dowling, commander of the naval munition depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., was operated on at the Brooklyn naval hospital tonight in an effort to save his eyesight.
The captain was blinded while he was combating flames at the depot after the first of the series of explosions.
Lieutenant-Commander Paul Albright of the Medical Corps, who performed the operation, said afterward that he is doubtful that Capt.
Dowling's sight could be restored.

Canadians Hold Three as Espies Blast Suspects

QUEBEC, July 11. (AP)—Three Americans giving their names to the police—Benjamin Landman, Emmanuel Haronson and Joseph Haronson—are held here awaiting identification by the authorities of Eugene, Or.
American police are searching for Ray, Roy and Hugh D'Auteuil of that city, charged with dynamiting a Southern Pacific train near Sla-kiyou, on the California-Oregon border, in 1925, and killing the engineer, fireman, brakeman and mail superintendent. The three now held by the police are under suspicion of being the men sought for the crime, the dominion police said.

cents, scalloped edges, Molyneux scarf neckline.
Soft, flattering pastel tints in transparent crepes for more formal daytime wear—summer afternoon occasions. Lovely color, the flattery of transparent crepes, a smart simplicity that is decidedly unique in dresses of so low a pricing. . . . On sale Tuesday at $19.50.

Lower Price Dress Section—Bullock's—Third Floor

There are more than two hundred of these new transparent dresses that have come for this event.

Two hundred dresses to further prove the possibility of true smartness, good design, excellence of fabric in the dress of little cost.

These are not ordinary dresses. They should not be confused with the sort of dresses usually obtainable at $19.50.
Their smartness is unquestionable.
The simple distinction of transparent silk crepes—Georgettes of splendid quality.

Just four have been sketched at the left—their smartness is quite evident
—a smartness that one has difficulty finding even in dresses for several times this price.

Dresses smart for all daytime occasions
—one and two piece types. Sizes from 14 to 42.

Two hundred as smart as the ones sketched—at $19.50 Tuesday.

CHICAGO, July 11. (AP)—Buried Grimes had the best of a pitchin' deal with Sheriff Blake today as Nevekyia defeated Chicago, 2 to 0.

Grimes allowed four scattered hits, one of which was a triple by Grimes. The Chicago slugger hit the home run of the Cubs when he scored on Caneey's out. Blake was touched up by the hits. The score:

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

THE Jones record in golf is one that is likely to stand for all time. Winning the British open championship and then capturing the American title two weeks later almost to the day is a feat that has never been equaled or even faintly approached by any amateur in the history of the sport. Or a professional either, for that matter.

Bobby Jones is without a doubt the greatest golfer the world has ever known. His record proves it. He is the only amateur to win the British open since competition was started back in 1860. Of the four amateurs who have won our own national open title since play was inaugurated in 1894 he is the only one to get two legs on the cup. Francis Ouimet won in 1913 and Jones in 1923 and 1925. And last, but not least, he is the nation's amateur champion, having won that crown in 1924 and 1925, and stands a very good chance of repeating it this year. Yes, a very fair chance.

Acc Huddins is going to get a crack at Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown within ninety days. Acc Huddins, one of the many brothers of the tribe, brings this reassuring word from Lawrence, Kan., home seat of the Huddinses. Acc saw brother Ace knock out Ruby Goldstein, and he is prepared to tell, in fact is already telling, the world, or at least that portion of it that will listen, what the "wildcat" will do to Sammy when he gets him in the ring.

Doc Wright Shuts Out Stars In Opening Game

Wright was moving down the Stars, the Angels were pouncing Frank Shellenback's spitter all over the lot, collecting fifteen hits off the offerings of the ace of the Hollywood hurling staff. Every Angel got at least one bingle, Statz, Hemminger, Wells, Shellenback, and Hannan coming up with two sacrifices. One of Hannan's pokes was a home run over the left-field wall, while the other just missed clearing the top of the bricks by about a couple of feet.

SOME MORE RUNS
Wells' single, Hannan's sacrifice and Statz's double to right center gave the Angels another in the sixth, while Statz, Hemminger, Wells, and Hannan added two more markers to the Seraphs' total in the seventh. Hannan homered over the left-field wall in the eighth to make it seven runs for Los Angeles and the final part of Shellenback's career.

Colima Bout With Willis to End Quickly, Belief of Fans; Boxers Complete Training

Bert Colima and Jack Willis ended their training yesterday in good enough shape for their rematch at Vernon Tuesday night to fight twenty rounds.

But since their first battle went but one-fourth that distance there is little likelihood of the bout going the limit this time.

Judged by all the angles which are woven into this duel there is only one sure thing bet. That is it will not go the distance.

Either Colima will fight the greatest battle of his life to win by a knockout or Willis will repeat his previous sensational performance.

Few bets were laid on the initial bout because it was figured that Willis was a soft one dug up for a Colima build-up in spite of the fact that Tim McGrath noised the fact that he had a real fighter.

If Colima is going to his second Waterloo, it is by his own choice. He offered to fight Willis right back again for nothing. The Mexican has taken this knockout more philosophically than he did his other split with Jack Delaney, Mickey Walker, Leo Lomski and Ted Moore. He never expressed a wish to fight any of these conquerors again. But he was hot for a Willis rematch. The Mexican has a high sense of

You can pay more—but there is no better

REGARDLESS of how much you pay, no other cigarette is so satisfying as a lighted Camel. No other is so good, so full of quality through and through.

No other cigarette ever made such a hit with the world as Camel. Millions cheered the arrival of this famous cigarette—because of its ever-dependable quality. Camel is overwhelmingly the world's favorite smoke.

Camel championship lasts through the years, because for satisfying pleasure, for downright enjoyment no other cigarette is within a mile of Camel. It's simply impossible to smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. They never leave a cigarette after-taste.

And mere money has no voice in Camel preference. Millions who could easily afford to pay the highest price, buy and smoke only Camels. In all walks of life, "Have a Camel" is recognized as quality password to the utmost in cigarettes.

We invite you to try Camels. Into this one brand the world's largest tobacco organization puts the utmost that money can buy. If you want the tastiest smoke that ever came from a cigarette—

Sand Found in Farthest East and West Wells

Chica Strike Extends Northern Boundary
Inspects Held Respects for Production Increase

Just extended their some distance to the north by the extension of the Bolea Chica Oil Company's Hartman No. 1, the Ventura field at Ventura is being itself again, according to reports.

The learned yesterday that the Ventura Oil Company has been successful in extending the field to the north by a half mile of present production. The extension is about 4000 feet in length, and the field is now reported to have found all of about 4000 feet in the Taylor field, the farthest west well in the field.

It is 1800 feet west of present production.

The prevailing impression among those who follow the Taylor and Ventura fields is that the Taylor and Ventura fields have both picked up what was the shallow sand, from production is contained in the field of the field at a point between 4000 and 4000 feet. It is considered that the Taylor field is completed in the present for a medium-sized producer, that the Ventura field will go on to about 6000 feet in quest of a deep sand of the field.

It is understood that the company shortly start another well on south line of the lease, several miles west of the present production. Taking old wells into something there similar to No. 1. The completion of the Ventura field added strength to the production of the Ventura field, which they are drilling north out of the Bolea Chica lease.

The Ventura field is reported to be yielding approximately 1000 barrels of oil per day from the new well, and considering that group of wells in the field has produced for upward of ten years, this is regarded as a remarkable high average.

Standard for Judging in Physical Culture Contests Sought by Society

By what standards of comparison may contests in physical development be judged? What are the measure-

These are questions that are agitating members of a committee of the Pacific Physical Culture Society, which will hold its first annual convention and exposition on the grounds at Washington and Hill streets in this city the 14th to 18th inst.

One of the features of the show will be a physical development contest in which prizes will be awarded to the most nearly perfect entrants. But how to judge the entrants with this idea in the struggling with this question includes Edward Fisher, New York artist visiting in Los Angeles, and E. Holmes Paul, of S. S. Hurlbut and Hightower, Los Angeles artists. A woman member has yet to be named.

Consultations are being held by the committee with Carlo Garomoni, Displays of everything pertaining to physical culture and better living will be on exhibit as side attractions to the serious endurance, posing and other contests. Delegations to the convention are expected from all parts of the State.

The Pacific Physical Culture Society, sponsors of the event, recently was organized in this city with membership of some 600. Articles of incorporation of the society are on file in the city clerk's office.

One of the first entries in the contest is Rose Marie Dolan, chosen Miss Illinois in 1923, who is here awaiting the opening.

LILYAN HAS BREAK WITH PRODUCERS

Miss Tashman Reveals Metropolitan Agreement for Contract Release

Continued dissatisfaction with matters regarding her affiliation with the Metropolitan Picture Corporation has led to a break with the company, according to Miss Lilyan Tashman, screen favorite, through the asserted agreement of the producing company to release her from a contract which still had several years to run, it was revealed yesterday by the actress.

LILYAN TASHMAN

Negotiations to break the contract were understood to have covered several weeks during which time Miss Tashman not only expressed extreme discontent with her salary but was specifically displeased with the roles she was given. She contended that "she was given better opportunities with companies to whom she was loaned by her contract company."

In announcing her break with the Metropolitan company, Miss Tashman declared it was without malice on either side. She is planning to free-lance for a time and possibly may become identified with William Fox, with which company her husband, Edmund Lowe, is identified.

CASTING FIGURES GIVEN OUT

Film Bureau Places 113,837 Extras During First Six Months of Operation Here

During the first six months of its operation, the Central Casting Corporation, acting as a free employment agency for motion-picture extras, has placed 113,837 extras, who have received $683,504.85 for their labor. This was revealed yesterday by Dave Allen, casting head of the bureau, as part of his semiannual report to the Motion-Picture Producers' Association, founder of the bureau.

The average daily wage for this time has been $6.84 and the average number of placements per day, 629, according to the report.

And, considering that the commercial employment agencies were in the habit of charging the extras 8 per cent of their earnings for placement service, a saving of more than $70,000 has been effected for the workers. Furthermore, Allen declared, instead of the placements being divided among more than 15,000 persons, as hitherto, the number of registrations has been cut down to about 8000. It is the plan of the bureau to make an even further cut, possibly to around 4000 registrations, he said.

"Naturally we have had complaints from those who wanted work and didn't get a call," Allen declared. "But to this we must be resigned. For the most important thing is that the extras who really have something to offer to motion pictures should earn a living wage. It is really kinder to turn the others away to another business into which they may fit."

SALARIES RAISED

Instead of lowering the salaries of the extras the free bureau has raised them, according to the report. In the old days at least 20 per cent of the placements were for $3 a day wage, Allen said. Only 1 per cent of the

Bowl to Honor Woman Winner of Music Prize

A California woman, Lucile Crowe Marsh of Redlands, the first of her sex to win the Pulitzer Prize in music, will be honored at the Friday evening program of the Hollywood Bowl when her high-award symphony poem is presented by the Bowl orchestra.

Mrs. Marsh, wife of a Redlands university professor and mother of two children, wrote the poem, "To the Unknown Soldier," in spare time from her household duties.

Submitting it, she was awarded the Pulitzer prize of $1500 for a traveling scholarship given annually to the most talented and deserving composer in America.

The poem, which is for full orchestra and carries the preponderant impression of quiet ecstasy, will be directed by Emil Obermaier. Mrs. Marsh has been invited to be present, and will probably be introduced to the audience that night.

Although living the quiet life of a mother and wife in Redlands, Mrs. Marsh has found time in the last years to compose a number of musical works for which she has been given high credit. The Pulitzer Prize of the State Federation of Music Clubs went to Mrs. Marsh this spring for a one-act grand opera. She has also written a sonata for viola, a fantasy for organ, a cantata for chorus and solo, and two one-act grand operas.

CANTOR IN NEW ONE CRUZE'S NEW CONTRACT WITH PARAMOUNT; DESERT TRIP

BY GRACE KINGSLY
That brilliant comedian, Eddie Cantor, who is cantoring along for Paramount in his first picture, isn't going to be allowed to slip out of Hollywood without doing one more comedy.

Following "Kid Boots," Eddie has been signed by Paramount to play a comedy in which he will be a comic letter carrier. Maybe you have never thought of letter carriers as comic, and probably still less do they think of themselves in that light. But it is said that after you have seen Eddie as a letter carrier, you are going to realize that there are funny possibilities even in this "mundane" profession and stern, who deals out even-handed to all from his urn those lots which so often decide if our day shall be anxious and sad or happy and gay.—as the poet described him to whom we are wont to refer to as the mail man.

Eddie Cantor wrote the story for his next picture himself, and so you can be quite sure that it will be funny. Eddie, as you realize, being no slouch of a writer.

Bill Farnum in Town
Unless you have happened to catch him fishing, or traveling over the hills at the rate of a mile a minute in his new Stutz, probably you don't know that William Farnum is in town.

William Farnum, who was a Fox star a few years ago, is in town for nothing in the world except to take a rest, so far as his work is concerned, but there are whisperings, if you listen hard enough, that he is being considered for a role in "The King of Kings." Formerly Farnum was used as a star in classic stage drama, including Shakespeare. He played the name part in "Ben Hur" during many seasons.

In the meantime, he isn't living at his beautiful old home up at the head of La Brea street, but is visiting "Ber" in his new Stutz.

James Cruze, Signa Again
While Paramount has always considered James Cruze a first-rate director, it took the filming of "Old Ironsides" to bring out all that was in Paramount officials' hearts regarding him.

And just to show their appreciation was not more sentimental talk—talk, they have signed him to a new contract where, by his services, he will go exclusively to Paramount.

Players—Lasky Corporation during the next several years to come, according to the announcement of James L. Lasky.

"I consider 'Old Ironsides' the supreme achievement of Mr. Cruze's career," declared the film executive. "The picture is without a doubt the most stupendous and startling screen play ever presented to the theater-going public."

Jean Herscholt's Next
Probably after Universal officials sat down and thought the thing over, they finally decided that Jean Herscholt was a valuable asset to waste in so small and inconspicuous a role as his part would necessarily be in the picture "The Cat and the Canary," which is a mystery rather than any other, however important.

So, according to the right of the great men to change their minds, said Universal officials have decided to star Mr. Herscholt in "The Wrong Man," an adaptation of George Broadhurst's successful stage play, which has lately been purchased by Universal.

Several months ago, Herscholt completed his first starring role in Universal's "The Old Song," and studio officials were so enthused with his performance that they immediately made him the star of the best stories available for his future productions.

Last week Universal announced that Herscholt was to appear in "The Cat and the Canary," which Paul Leni will direct. However, as this would necessitate drastic revisions in the entire story, it is hardly possible that the plan will be effected.

Death Valley Location Trip
A daring not to say hazardous undertaking was begun on Saturday when the Charles R. Rogers Company, many, under the leadership of Harry J. Brown, supervisor of production, and Director Albert Rogell, embarked on a trip to the Death Valley to make a number of important scenes for "The Unknown Cavalier," a Ken Maynard starring vehicle for First National.

Several women are in the party, including Kathleene Collins, the leading lady in the script and the companion of the child-actor, Jimmy Boudwin, who has just been added to the cast. James Mason, T. Roy Barnes, David Torrence, Otis Harlan, Joseph Swickard and other players will make the trip.

Mr. Brown is taking elaborate precautions not only to safeguard the large stellar cast and staff from the terrific heat of these July days on the desert, but is adopting every device to protect the film from the parching effects of the temperature. But beyond fans and awnings and the proper light clothing, little can be done to palliate the trying effects on the players of the heat in the valley where the company expects to endure temperature of 130 deg. or upward.

ACTS ALL HEADLINERS
Vaudeville, if not at its best, very close to it, is offered at the Hillstreet, this week. There is a little of this, and a little of that, but altogether it proves rather delectable fare.

The manager of the Hillstreet must have sat up late nights allotting the headline spots, as all the acts were worthy of the honor.

Starting the interesting bill were the Four Karreys, "Human Elastic Bands." What those boys can do with their arms and legs is astonishing to put it mildly. If Lon Chaney ever views this act, he will realize the hopelessness of competing with such adepts at distortion.

Zelaya's philosophical discussion about jazz is entertaining, and his piano playing shows ability of no mean order.

"Jazz," said Zelaya, "requires no mental effort. People demand it only when they want to wiggle."

Perhaps the audience yesterday wanted to wiggle, as any rate, Frank Dobson's amusing mélange of chatter and gynecological songs and dances proved decidedly popular. "The Love Doctor," the diverting title of the playlet, invades the realm of Avery Hopwood's bedroom farce, but it is just daring enough to provide agreeable warm-weather thrills.

Miss Venita Gould in "Impressions" is considerably above the average in her impressions of leading stars of variety and the legitimate stage. The likeness to Ethel Barrymore was relatively faint, but her interpretations of Grace La Rue, the Duncan sisters, Ted Lewis and Sophie Tucker were startlingly realistic.

Ernest R. Ball in his vaudeville musical presents some charming girls of ability this season. Although none of his new songs will last through the ages, they are pleasingly tuneful. One of the girls, the one announced as direct from the Metropolitan Opera Company, really has a lovely voice.

"Her Second Chance," a First National picture, with Anna Q. Nilsson, Hunter Gordon and Charlie Murray, is the feature photograph of the week. It pictures in an entertaining way the attempt of the woman with a past to secure revenge on the judge who sentenced her to prison, only to find that the judge is now a judge of the law.

Number 99,007, perhaps, but it is enlivened by some screamingly funny clowning on the part of Charlie Murray as the detective. Anna Q. Nilsson is beautiful as the woman seeking revenge, while Gordon is somewhat conventional as the judge.

An amusing Andy Gump comedy and Aesop's Fables complete the bill.

Wilson during the heated term in August, you may think of her as traveling the cool ocean to her native Sweden, where she is to visit her parents.

GROUPS TO SEE DRAMA OF CHRIST
Special Delegations Will Visit Pilgrimage Theater During the Week

Special parties have already been arranged to view the Pilgrimage Play, which opened its seventh annual season last week at the Pilgrimage Theater in the Hollywood Hills.

The first large group to make reservations at the Pilgrimage Theater, goes to the members of the National Baptist Young People's Convention, now meeting in Los Angeles, who will attend the sacred drama tonight. The excursion will be under the direction and auspices of the convention.

Tomorrow night 200 students of the University of Southern California will witness the dramatic production. On Thursday, another group of 200 students, this time from the Southern Branch of the University of California, will be present.

Several hundred people will journey from Long Beach to enjoy this drama Friday night.

The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, with their families and friends, will arrive the 21st inst., making a group of 250.

Figueroa Will Have La Roque for Next Star

Following this week's engagement of Dolores Costello in Warner Bros. "The Little Irish Girl," Fred Miller announces that the Figueroa Theater will present the dramatic production "La Roque," featuring Rod La Roque. It will open Friday.

"Red Dice," was produced under the supervision of G. B. De Mille and directed by William K. Howard and La Roque is supported by Marguerite De La Motte, Gustave Von Seyffertitz, George Cooper, Walter Long, Clarence Burton, Charles Clary, Alan Brooks and Edythe Tork.

M-G-M Expects to Film Story of Louis XIV

Gladys R. Unger, has been engaged by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios to prepare a play to be based on the times of Louis XIV of France, and with the historic monarch as the central character.

Details of the plan have not been announced, but it is expected that it will be filmed as one of the romantic features of the coming year.

"Prince" of Old Russia
NICOLA ILLUSIONS
PROVE BAFFLING
Spectators Fail to Comprehend Mysterious Feats
at Orpheum

Perhaps it is just as well that the powers that be down at the Orpheum have placed Nicola's act far down on the current bill.

For after the curtain has fallen on that debonair gentleman the audience is much too occupied trying to fathom the mysteries of his various feats to pay undivided attention to other players.

Nicola is baffling.

He speaks of his "illusions" with commendable nonchalance, even obligingly suggesting that since this is his first professional visit to Los Angeles, he might as well explain the mystery of the elusive prisoner. And he says he does explain it.

But from the initial number, "The Elastic Lady," to his final "frank mystery," he keeps the spectators blinking and uncomprehending.

Decidedly modern troubadour, in Oxford bags and a correct blue coat, is Nick Lucas. But he combines an unaffected, likable manner with a large amount of real ability, and proves one of the favorites of the program. Astutely varying larks and sentimental numbers, Lucas was called back a number of times.

So it would appear that today's vaudeville audience prefers its troubadours strictly up to date.

Ledova, that graceful dancer, remains for another week, as "Hollywood's Harlequinade" and "Mexican Impressions" outstanding among her numbers. The "Bitcherbah Gypsy Quilties" add atmosphere as well as music to Ledova's act.

Dancing, of a different variety, is provided by the cast of Earl Hickman's "Miniature Polka of 1926."

Twenty youngsters, perfectly trained and possessed of a great deal of natural ability, appear in all sorts of numbers—from the traditional fashion parade, during which a young miss in a red bathing suit quite captured the interest, to a cleverly presented East Side affair where this same miniature blonde was prominently featured.

A really astoundingly agile, though a bit grotesque, acrobatic number; a businesslike Spanish number and a Charleston finale were outstanding.

This week's Orpheum bill is opened by Parker and son, performers worthy of their billing, as "Acrobatic Extraordinary." Depending entirely on their muscular ability, to gain attention, the two make no attempt to inject comedy into their act. Their good taste is appreciated, as well as their undiminished skill.

"Gwafus-Gwafus-Gwafus."

Such is the enlightening title of another number, perpetrated by Marie White and Ed Tierney. Ed Tierney appears first and, flourishing a toy pistol, attempts to annihilate several members of the orchestra. He later turns the weapon upon Miss White. Then he thinks better of it, and a series of songs and some chatter follows. Both are badly done and somewhat pointless.

Jerome and Gray have entitled their effort "Hoo Hoo." Rather aptly, to be sure, for it finally develops that the golden-haired Miss Gray is really a pianist of the team, while Mr. Jerome plays the violin. And they do it rather well, both of them, when they decide to dispense with their attempt to be funny.

Franklin Ardell's "The Wise Saver" is composed largely of reputedly clever, but really quite unamusing, many are ancient and quite stale. As a whole, the sketch is in no way remarkable.

AMUSING ANTICS
Comedy Pair in Upstairs Situations at Palace

One way to enjoy a trip to the beach is to see "The Love Hour" at the Broadway Palace this week. Although the picture itself is nothing to grow emotional about, the act of Willard Louis and Louise Fazenda making a tour of the beach concessions is uproariously funny. The inevitable comedy pair provide enough laughs to keep "The Love Hour" from growing as uninteresting as its title.

In this picture Louise is remarkably pretty as well as being funny and her unromantic love affair with the fat man proves quite appealing. The story is of two department store clerks who go to the beach for a good time. They join forces with a sidewalk shik and his fat counter-part, and the four "do" the beach hilariously. Then into the story walks a bored millionaire and out walks the shik. From that point on, the amusing slapstick comedy is ruined and a feature story feebly struggles to begin.

The romantic leads of the picture are Ruth Clifford and Huntley Gordon, with John Roche and others playing bits. There is real comedy opportunity for acting given anyone but Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis, and the story is unreal and flimsy from the moment it leaves the beach escapade. The titles by E. A. Patterson are remarkably clever and much to be commended for their "The Love Hour."

The vaudeville bill above the average. Gus King's melodramatic musical offering gives several interesting novelties, while Gordon and Orov assume mildly with "The Love Hour," which proves to be nothing of the kind. Others on the bill are Alvin Karpis, Eugene Packer, Strong in "Gang Love," Willie Holt in "Gang Love" and Santiago and Engelina.

Nell Leaving Loew's Theater for New York

Nell Kelly, who has been associated with Rube Wolf for several weeks at Loew's State Theater, is singing a n d dancing a o f a which the o e o e-an have been presenting under Fanchon and Marco auspices, is leaving Loew's State. Miss Kelly is going on a tour of the West Coast circuit, after which she will leave for New York, where an engagement has been offered her.

A farewell party will be given her at Loew's State Theater on Tuesday night. Among those invited to the party are Charlie Hoff, "the vaunting Viking," Don Barclay, cartoonist, Rube Wolf and his wife, Sonny Perry, Fanchon and Marco H. B. Wright, managing director of Loew's State Theater, and Charlie Ray and Joan Crawford, stars of "Paris," the present picture, also Trilby Frijana, who comes to Loew's State next week.
